

The Yun Family's Ninth Child is an Imp! Chapter 793

Inside the formation, there was almost no wind, and the flow of water was very slow. Therefore, the black feather of Little Black Bird fluttered very slowly. Yun Chujiu was not in a hurry. She had waited for so many days, so it was nothing to wait for another half a day.

The black feather drifted further and further away, and Yun Chujiu gradually lost sight of it. Only then did she realize that she had neglected an important matter. Although the feather of Little Black Bird was light, it was too small. It was fine if it was close, but once it drifted far away, it would be completely invisible!

Yun Chujiu had no choice but to have Furry retrieve a tail feather of a giant-winged bird from the Great Void Mystic Realm. The feathers of the giant-winged bird were bright red, and they were more than three meters long. That way, she was not afraid of losing sight of it.

Seeing this, the Little Black Bird was so angry that it twitched. "Master! Don't you think twice before plucking my feathers? Do you know how precious each feather is to me?"

Yun Chujiu felt a little guilty and laughed dryly. "Little Black Bird, the old needs to make way for the new too. My hair has been completely removed so many times. Yet look at it now, it still grew back fine didn't it?!"

"How can it be the same? That's just hair on your head, but this is the hair on my body! Master, you have to comfort my injured heart. Otherwise, I will throw myself into the sea and commit suicide!" Little Black Bird glared at Yun Chujiu.

Yun Chujiu knew that she was guilty, so she took out a roasted snow rabbit from her storage ring and put it into the spiritual beast bag. "Little Black Bird, this can make up for your little heart, right?"

Little Black Bird snorted arrogantly. "Give me another one! I can't just eat it while the two of them just watch!"

Yun Chujiu had no choice and could only take out another roasted snow rabbit for Little Black Bird. Finally, she managed to placate him after wasting one of his feathers.

Although the giant winged-bird's tail feathers were eye-catching, they were not as fast as Little Black Bird's feathers because of their large size. They could only move a few hundred feet in an hour.

The Giant Tsunami Turtle saw Yun Chujiu mumbling and then placed two feathers on the surface of the sea. It thought to itself, what is this little girl doing? Had she really found a clue?! Could it be that she was afraid that it would be angry and tried to act like she found something?!

The Giant Tsunami Turtle could no longer hold back its temper and cried out a few times. Seeing that the turtle was getting impatient, Yun Chujiu quickly rowed the raft to the front of the Giant Tsunami Turtle.

Yun Chujiu babbled about her guess, and the Giant Tsunami Turtle was stunned after hearing it. Although it did not understand the scientific principles that Yun Chujiu said, it still understood the point of letting the feathers follow the current to find the enchantment. It thought to itself, although this human girl's spiritual power was a little weak, she was really smart. She actually found a clever way to find the barrier.

The Giant Tsunami Turtle was also excited. After being trapped here for ten years, if it wasn't for the fact that the turtle-type demon beasts were able to resist hunger, it would have died off long ago. Now that it saw the light of dawn, it was naturally very happy.

The next day, Yun Chujiu used the excuse of observing the giant-winged bird's feathers to climb onto the shell of the Giant Tsunami Turtle.

She covered the shell with the Palace Mistress's velvet blanket and lay on it happily. Then, she took out a storybook and started reading.

Why was she not observing the feathers?

That thing would not float very far for another two hours. There was still time to look at it tomorrow morning.

“Tsk tsk, that old witch the Palace Mistress, has given me something useful. This velvet blanket is a must-have item when traveling.” Yun Chujiu touched the velvet blanket underneath and muttered.

On the morning of the fifth day, Yun Chujiu discovered that the giant-winged bird’s feather had been circling around a specific spot and did not continue to drift forward from there. Her eyes lit up. It was there!
