I was looking down a the blue prints with Ozai. I pointed to the garden area, "I want it just like how it used to be, except I think I want more lilies and also a little pond so than in the spring some ducklings might come!"

a

want it to be able to fit all of us comfortably."

Ozai rolls his eyes but smirks, "Alright. And what about this area?"

"I want that one to be big because I want it to be the main family room. I

I looked up at the roof where Sozin was a cringed, "Please tell me you

EPILOGUE

I groaned in worry. I took a step back and took in the whole picture and smiled. We decided repair the damages made to the castle, except this time we're going to make it better. More homey and less of the cursed vibe if that makes sense. I felt a pair of warm hands grab my hips. Zeus kisses my shoulders, "How's it going, love?"	ਰੋ ਕੇ
I smiled and said, "I love bossing people around." He chuckles and rests his hands on my rounded stomach, "How's our little pup doing?" I look down at my swollen belly, "I think he's doing good." "He? How do you know it's going to be a he?"	đ
I turn around and circle my arms around his neck, "Because Zeus, a mother knows." He leans in and pecks my lips. He looks at the castle and sighs, "This is going to be good."	₫¹
I smiled and leaned back on Zeus, "It is. It really is." I was four months pregnant, I feel pretty big right now. But I love it. My little child growing within me. It feels amazingwhen I'm not feeling nauseous. It was actually hard knowing that I was pregnant. I mean, don't get me wrong! I was over the moon about it. But I guess I felt worry about the baby's safety. I was nervous. Remembering feeling content when all of a sudden Nikolai came anddid what he did. Zeus felt nervous too. But I think we have to realise that everything is okay. We're fine and the baby is fine. That's all that matters. I lean in and press my lips against Zeus's. He groans and wraps his arms around me tightly. He presses harder into my lips hungrily. I giggled quietly as I leaned back, "You feeling alright, Zeus?"
He growls, "Not anymore. We're in a little bit of a hard problem." I snorted, "You mean you're in a little bit of a hard problem." He groans, "Please don't leave me like this, love. It's painful." I laugh and shook my head, "I can't right now." I lean in and whispered, "But just you wait for tonight."	් ්
"Can you guy stop being horny and actually help." Sozin shouted. Zeus growls and shouts, "Can you stop being drunk and actually help?" Sozin eyes him, "Touche, my friend." I give Zeus a last peck, "Go on. I have to run some errands anyway."	ਕੱ ਕੱ
"What're you doing?" He asks. "I just need to go into town for a few things." Zeus looked unsure for me to be going out. He sighs, "Fine but please take one of the guards with you." "Zeusit's all over. Nikolai is gone, Demora is gone." "Please Lily. It'll just put my mind at ease knowing that you have some kind of protection." STORY CONTINUES BELOW
I sighed, "Okay, I will." I said defeated. Zeus grins gratefully, "Thank you."
The nurse was leading me down the hall, to the room. A man in a baseball hat walks out of the room. "Who's that?" I asked. "Oh that's her grandson. He visits from time to time." I nodded my head understandingly. Well I'm happy that at least someone still visits her. The nurse stops at the door and turned around, "She is a very confused woman. So be gentle with her." I nodded my head, "Of course."	ď
The nurse le me at the door. I slowly opened it and stepped inside, closing it behind me. The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna."	a' a'
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily."
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and	a
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn aroundbut he never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real manbut he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he	at at
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn aroundbut he never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real manbut he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance."	at at
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn aroundbut he never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real manbut he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the	at at
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn aroundbut he never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real manbut he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." I squeezed her hands. "I would be happy to."	ਰੀ ਹੈ ਹੈ ਹੈ
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn aroundbut he never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real manbut he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." I squeezed her hands. "I would be happy to." We sat there for hours. I told her everything about Donny. How he was so funny and kind. Anna was crying of laughter by the end of it. I also told her a bit about me and my story, but of course le out the magical things. "He sounds so wonderful!" She laughed. Ilaughed along with her, "Yes. He was the best. He always knew how to make smile." Anna began to look a	ਰੀ ਹੈ ਹੈ ਹੈ ਹੈ
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" I smiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." I smiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn around but he never did, I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real man but he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." I squeezed her hands. "I would be happy to." We sat there for hours. I told her everything about Donny, How he was so funny and kind. Anna was crying of laughter by the end of it. I also told her a bit about me and my story, but of course le out the magical things. "He sounds so wonderful!" She laughed. I laughed along with her, "Yes. He was the best. He always knew how to make smile." Anna began to loo	ਰੀ ਹੈ ਹੈ ਹੈ
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" Ismiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." Ismiled at the woman, "it's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" Inodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn around but he never did, I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real man but he never came." I smiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." I squeezed her hands. "I would be happy to." We sat there for hours. I told her everything about Donny. How he was so funny and kind. Anna was crying of laughter by the end of it. I also told her a bit about me and my story, but of course le out the magical things. "He sounds so wonderful!" She laughed. I laughed along with her, "Yes. He was the best. He always knew how to make smile." Anna began to look a	a da
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" Ismiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." Ismiled at the woman, "it's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" Inodded my head, "Yes. I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Donny," Anna said quietly in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes. I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this man named Donny to turn around. But he never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stug my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was real man., but he never came." Ismiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he loved you with all this heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" I gulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smilled through my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." I squeezed her hands. "I would be happy to." We sat there for hours. I told her everything about Donny. How he was so funny and kind. Anna was crying of laughter by the end of it. I also told her a bit about me and my story, but of course le out the magical things. "He sounds so wonderfull" She laughed. Hughed along with her, "Yes. He was the best. He always knew how to make smile." "He said he had a lady frien	a da
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" Ismiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Uliv." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." Ismiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You bave heard of me?" Inodded my head, "Yes, I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." Tonny, "Anna said quietty in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes, I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now I wonder, Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouling at this man named Donny to turn around., but he never did, I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him. Anna." Anna looked said, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real man, but he never came." Ismiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna, He was very real and he loved you with all his heart." Loved? Is he dead?' Igulped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes, He is, He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss, She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts, She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." Isqueezed her hands. "I would be happy to." We sait there for hours. I tidd her everything about Domny. How he was so humy and kind. Anna was crying of laughter by the end of it. I also told her a bit about me and my story, but of course le out the magical things. "He sounds so wonderful!" She laughed. Islughed, "Really? What did he say?" The said has how as epstand to laugh. Though my seat, "It's said that? Wh	ਰੀ ਰੀ ਰੀ ਰੀ
The eld woman in the bed turns to me and frawns; "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" Israiled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested, "No, I'm not. My name is Lilly." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." Israiled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me!" Inodded my head, "Yes, I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." Tonny, "Anna said quietty in thought, "That name sounds familiar." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes, I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real well now livender, Ever since I was young and even when I married, I twas shouting at this man named Donny to turn around. but he never did, I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him, Anna." Anna looked sad, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real man. but he never came." Ismiled and took Anna's hand, "He was real, Anna. He was very real and he looked you with all his heart." "Loved? Is he dead?" Iguiped as I tried to hold my sobs back. I smiled through my tears, "Yes, Ite is. He wanted to come see you and tell you everything, but he never got the chance." Anna looks at a loss. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She jooks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story," Isqueezed her hands. "I would be happy to." We sat there for hours. I trid her everything about Domny, How he was so humy and kind. Anna was crying of laughter by the end of it. I also told her a bit about me and my story, but of course te out the magical things. "He sounds so wonderful!" She laughed. Bunghed along with her, "Yes, He was the best. He always knew how to make smile." Anna began to look a litt	ਰੀ ਰੀ ਰੀ ਰੀ
The old woman in the bed turns to me and frowns, "Who are you? You're not a nurse?" Is miled and came and sat on a chair next where she rested. "No, I'm not. My name is Lily." The woman eyes me suspiciously and said, "My name is Anna." Is miled at the woman, "It's lovely to finally meet you, Anna." She frowns, "You have heard of me?" I nodded my head, "Yes, I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." I nodded my head, "Yes, I've heard many wonderful things about you from a dear friend of mine, his name was Donny." "Yes, you two used to know each other." Anna sits up and asked, "I have never told anybody this, but I have dreamed about that name for many years." My brows raised in surprised, "Really?" She nods her head, "Yes, I thought it was a random dream, but now that you have come told me he was real vell now I wonder. Ever since I was young and even when I married, I was shouting at this mun named Donny to turn around. Job the never did. I always wonder who he was." Tears stung my eyes, "You were someone very important to him. Anna." Anna looked asd, "When I was young I would wait for him. I convinced myself he was a real man. but he never came." I sulped as I tried to hold my sols back. I amiled throught my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and toll you everything, but he never got the chance." I guiped ast I tried to hold my sols back. I amiled throught my tears, "Yes. He is. He wanted to come see you and toll you everything, but he never got the chance." I supped also that all was. She was silent for a moment, gathering her thoughts. She looks at me and asked, "Will you tell me what he was like? Tell me his story." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to." I squeezed her hands. "I would he happy to."	'ਰੋ ਹੈ

"What about Sozin? He's your best friend. Shouldn't he know?"

I shook my head and smiled, "You cheeky bastard."

own. He gives me a cheeky wink and I snickered.

I felt whole. "I love you too, Zeus. Forever and always."

my mother talked about...peace...total peace.

his old self again.

my life.

THE END.

XXXXXXX

AROHA_XOX

LOVE YOU GUYS XOXOX

He shrugs his shoulders innocently, "Couldn't help myself."

Donny gives me a knowing smile, "Who says he doesn't know?" Donny steps å

a

a a⁴

ď

ď

a

back and gives me his smile and a cheeky wink, "I'll see you soon, Lil."

I laughed in joy. He turns around and he disappears in a flash of smoke. It

That night we were all at dinner. I looked at Sozin and his eyes caught my

Later on I went to bed, Zeus came up and snuggled in behind me, "I love you, Lil." He places his hand on my stomach. Everything wasn't perfect, and yet everything was. I snuggled deeper into Zeus's arms. I was truly happy. Now I get to spend the rest of my life, actually the rest of eternity with the love of

He kisses my neck and we went to sleep. Now I knew what my aunties and

(Oh my gosh! IT IS OVER! I AM LITERALLY CRYING RIGHT NOW! UGH! I want to thank EVERYONE who has been on this long journey with me. It still amazes me to this day that people even WANT to read my stories. it's insane! I love you all so much! I am crazy thankful for all of you beautiful souls! Now fro the real question...should I write another story? And if so what? It could be something still to do with the blood moon pack series as well as Zeus's? Or something completely di erent? Let me know:)

Also give my new book "The Scars Of Us" a read too!

would explain how Sozin has been so happy this last month. He looked like